Thank You Letter

by Ho Chung Yu Andrew 6C

Dear Miss Chan,

Thank you for being patient and kind. You are the best teacher at school. I love your lessons. You always tell us jokes. It is fun.

You are a patient teacher. You always explain the important points clearly. You give examples to let us learn easily. When we do not understand, you say it one more time.

You are a kind teacher. When I was sad for my test, you comforted me and showed me how to write and speak good English. You read books with us to improve our English.

I promise I will study hard and remember what you said. Keep in touch. Miss you!

Yours Sincerely,

Andrew

A Reply Letter to the EC

Dear the Enormous Crocodile,

Thank you for your invitation. I am sorry that I cannot join the Children Flesh Tasting Party since I don't like to eat children. I think it is not a great idea for you to eat children.

Firstly, children are tough and chewy. Your jaw will be tired and your teeth will be broken. You may feel sick and bad, so you should not eat children.

Secondly, you may be caught by the humans and being kept in the zoo. You will be lonely and bored. People take photos with you all the time. You will feel annoyed and tired. I prefer eating seafood to eating children. It is yummy and healthy. Maybe you can eat seafood such as fish and lobsters, too.

I will hold a Seafood Party next Monday. Please come and join us.

Sincerely,
Lovely Penguin

The Enormous Crocodile (Clever Trick Number 5)

by Liao Daniel 6D

The EC went back to the earth. He lost his teeth and his skin turned dark brown after crushing into the hot hot sun. He was still hungry. He wanted to eat ten children.

The EC went to a zoo where there were full of animals and kids. At first, he opened his mouth and stood upright. He made himself look like a crocodile rubbish bin. Soon, the EC heard some noise. There were three boys. They were Dan, Danny and Daniel. "This black crocodile is cute. Let me take a photo of it," Dan said. The EC thought that he could eat the children when they were taking photos.

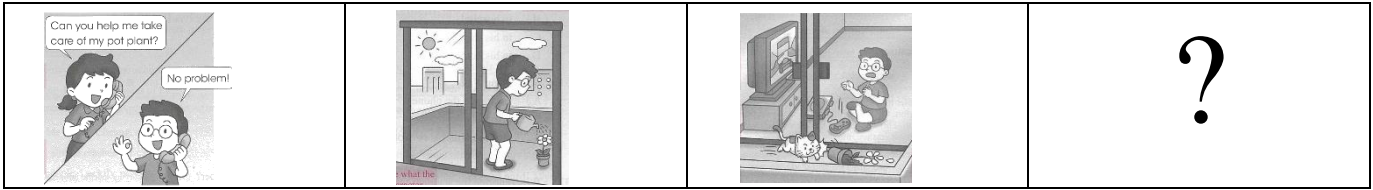

Suddenly, a crocodile came. He was the NotSoBig One. He bit the EC's leg. Then, he pointed a gun at him. The EC felt scared and he ran away fast. Dan, Danny and Daniel were safe.

At last, the EC could not catch any children. He was hungrier and hungrier. He crept to St. Patrick's School. He wanted to eat thirty children at St. Patrick's School. He hoped that his trick would work...

An Accident

by Chun Ka Yan Christy 6B

Daisy called me and asked for my help. She said, 'I will be away from Hong Kong for two weeks. Can you take care of my pot plant?' 'No problem!' I said. I was confident that I could keep my promise.

When I got the pot plant, I put it in the balcony because a plant needs sunlight. Every night after dinner, I went to the balcony and watered the plant.

One day, when I was playing video games in the living room, my cat was jumping around in the balcony. Suddenly, the cat hit the plant. The pot was broken. I felt worried at that time because Daisy would come back and check her plant. She would be sad.

At last, I went out and shouted at the cat. Then I called Daisy and said, 'Daisy, sorry, your plant was hit by a cat and it was broken.' Daisy said, 'It's ok! Don't be sad.' Luckily, she was not angry. I will be careful when I promise others to take care of their belongings.

What Do You Want To Be When You Grow Up?

by Ma Tsz Ching Gary 6C

I want to be an accountant when I grow up because it is an interesting and meaningful job. If I become an accountant, I will help the small companies by charging them less for accounting services. I will do my job cautiously so that my team will not need to re-do the work again.

An accountant needs to be careful. There are lots of numbers and figures that an accountant needs to deal with. An accountant also needs to be patient. If the balance is not right, the accountant needs to do the job all over again. An accountant must have a clear mind.

I think this job is suitable for me because I am careful and patient when I do anything. I am also intelligent. I always get an A for my maths tests and exams.

I really want to be an accountant. From now on, I will study hard and practise my maths every day. I also need to improve my English language skills so that I can talk with any clients around the world. I am sure I will be a successful accountant when I grow up.

The Enormous Crocodile went to a restaurant where there were lots of children.

At first, he needed to hide himself. He saw many decorations on the wall. They were specimens of animals. He stayed there quietly. He was stiff like a statue.

Soon, two children came. They were Ben and Bob. They were happy to have lunch in the restaurant. They found the specimens on the wall very interesting. They tried to touch them.

At that moment, the Enormous Crocodile was very happy to see the children getting closer. He couldn't help drooling. Suddenly, a drop of drool dropped on Ben's head. The children shrieked.

At last, the Enormous Crocodile could not eat any children. He was caught and sent to the zoo.

What do you want to be when you grow up? by Chan Nok Chi Lennus 6A

I want to be a pilot when I grow up since it is an exciting and challenging job. If I become a pilot, I will fly planes and bring passengers safely to their destinations.

Pilots need to be intelligent. They need to know more about planes so that they can fly planes. They need to be calm too. They should not be afraid when there's an emergency. They need to have good eyesight too.

I think this job is suitable for me because I am intelligent and calm. I like planes and I know a lot about planes.

I really want to be a pilot. From now on, I will study hard so that I can get into Cadet Pilot Programme. I will practise my English more often so that I can talk with the passengers and other crew members. I am sure I will be a good pilot when I grow up.
