One day, David with a colourful peacock in the basket got off Mr. Bigelow's bus at the shopping mall.

In the end, David went to McDonald's and ordered a giant hamburger and some French Fries. They were delicious.

A Sick Experience

by Chow Yu Kwan Yulissa 4C

Last week, Karen's mum gave her some pocket money because she did her homework and helped her mum do the housework well. She was very excited. "Thank you, mum!" said Karen.

In the afternoon, Karen went to Lok Fu on foot and she wanted to buy some snacks. Next, she saw a hawker selling her favourite food. She was very hungry, so she walked to the food stall to buy some yummy fish balls.

In the evening, she went back home. When she was reading books, her stomach was painful. So, she cried for help, "Help, mum! My stomach is painful." Then mum cooked her a bowl of congee and said, "After eating the congee, you should see a doctor."

At last, Karen went to the clinic and saw a doctor. "What's the matter with you?" asked the doctor. "I had a stomachache," Karen answered. "What did you eat?" asked the doctor. "I ate some fish balls from the hawker," Karen replied. "You have eaten some dirty food! You should stay at home and take a rest. Don't forget to take the medicine," said the doctor. After two days, she recovered.

Karen learnt that she should not buy any food in the street again. She would like to be as fit as a fiddle.

The Hungry Fox With His Friend by Chan Yi Ting Elsa 4A

Once upon a time, there was a fox sleeping in her blue house. She woke up at half past six.

First, the fox went to the kitchen with pajamas to look for food because she was hungry but there was no food in the green and yellow cupboard. She felt disappointed.

Next, she put on a brown dress and a yellow scarf. She took a basket with her. She planned to go out so she could buy food. She felt excited.

Then, she went to the market to buy some fruit. She went past some shops such as a café and a cake shop. She felt amazed.

After that, she finally arrived to the market. She asked the shopkeeper, "Can I get some watermelons, kiwis and pears?" The shopkeeper replied, "Yes, they are $50." But when she looked into her basket, she found that she did not have any money so she couldn't buy any fruit. She felt hungry and embarrassed.

When the fox was walking back home, she saw a gingerbread man. She felt excited because she could eat food for free. When she was going to gobble the gingerbread man, the gingerbread man shouted, "Stop! Don't eat me. I can turn leaves into lollipops!" So the gingerbread man took out his magic beans and threw the magic beans at the leaves. The leaves turned into lollipops. The fox could finally eat food. She was not hungry anymore.

After the fox ate all the lollipops, she thanked the gingerbread man. In the end, they became good friends. They had a party. They felt glad when they played together. After that, they often visited each other and bought food in the market together too.
